IT WAS A GREAT TIME

Thousands Enjoyed a Delightful Labor Day.

HOW THEY WENT TO THE PARK

Cars Were Crowded and Busses Could Hold No More—The Parade Was a Fine Feature, and the Athletic Contests Were Better Than Ever—Everybody Satisfied.

Labor day is a great holiday for East Liverpool, and never was the occasion observed with more enjoyment than that which marked the celebration this year.

The weather was perfect. It could not have been better if made to order. Early in the morning strangers began to fill the roads leading to the city, and before the time set for the parade to move, many farmers and their families were in town. The morning trains brought a large number, and Wellsville contributed a liberal share of its population. Thousands of people from the city proper crowded the streets, and there was music on every hand. Marshal Ruhe and his aids were not long in getting the marching workmen in line, and a few minutes after 9 o'clock the column moved in this order.

Chief Marshal Ruhe and aides.

Squad of police.

Turners.

Trades council.

Typographical union.

Haines' band.

Pressers.

Jigermen.

Saggarmakers.

Dippers.

Decorators.

Mouldmakers.

Odd men.

Kilndrawers.

Manley's band.

Kilnmen.

Carpenters.

Masons.

Bricklayers.

Painters.

Glassworkers.

Clerks.

Barbers.

Shoemakers.

Grocery clerks.

City officials.

There was no confusion, and the parade passed over the route as published in the NEWS REVIEW in the best of order. The carpenters looked well in their white duck suits and caps, and Trades council made a splendid appearance mounted. The glassworkers, as usual, did well. Each man carried a sword of glass, while a miniature glass factory was borne aloft with the proud consciousness that it made a handsome showing. The big glass ball was another interesting feature, and attracted much attention. They numbered over 100, and at several points were cheered. The clerks made up another attractive body, and their banner attracted universal attention. The employees of the opera house made up another attractive organization, while the goat and its driver was the center of attraction. All the potters' unions looked well, the kilnmen turning out with 160 marchers. The printers had many friends on the sidewalks as they marched proudly by, with almost every member of the craft in line. Their pet Rags was with them, and stepped along as proudly as any man in the parade. Mayor Gilbert and the city officials looked their prettiest, and the police force never showed to better advantage. The fire department, however, was the most attractive part of the city's representation. Every man was arrayed in his best, and the apparatus could not have looked better. Every piece of metal shone like polished gold, and the horses were groomed to perfection. It was a fine parade, one of the finest ever seen in the city. There were fully 1,000 men in line, and there are many who have estimated the number at 1,500.

When the parade disbanded in the Diamond, the rush for Columbian park began. Street car after street car passed through the city. They were loaded to the guards, and when passengers could find no other place they grasped the window sills, and literally hung on. Several thousands went this way, and many did not leave the city until early in the afternoon. Then there was another rush, and the scenes of the morning were repeated. Buses and carriages carried many more, and when 3 o'clock arrived it is estimated there were no less than 10,000 people at the park. The city was deserted, business was suspended, and everybody observed the occasion. The thousands enjoyed the time at the park in splendid manner. There was dancing in the pavilion, but the greater part of the crowd went to the race course and saw the sports. Much interest was manifested, and they resulted as follows:

One mile bicycle race, boys under 15 years of age—W. B. Louthan, first; Howard Blake, second; A. Bowdler, third. Time, 2:51.

One mile bicycle race, open—Davidson, first; York, second; Frederick, third. Time, 2:41.

One hundred yard dash—Webb, five yards, first; Mercer, five yards, second; Collins, five yards, third. Time, 11 seconds. L. Henrichs and Herbert Smith were placed on the scratch, but were unable to overcome the handicap, becoming pocketed at the start.

Fat men's race, 100 yards—James Dunkerly, first; E. M. Welch, second. Time, 13½.

One-half mile foot race—Fred J. Howard, first; Brady Larkins, second; William Price, third. Time, 5:25. William Howard was leading this race until within two feet of the scratch when he fell.

The football game was won by the Rovers with a score of 3-1. Owing to the grounds being totally unfit for a contest of this kind, neither club was able to play a skillful game.

The greased pig was caught by John Seearight in an unusually short time.

One mile horse race, pacing and trotting—Minto, G. W. Meredith, Jr., first; Daisy Dean, Dr. J. B. Kinter, second. Time, 2:58½.

Five mile handicap bicycle race—Heber Davidson, 500 yards, first; Judd Frederic, 600 yards, second; Elmer Gaston, 600 yards, third; Henry Chambers, 1,000 yards, fourth. Time, 15:45. York, the scratch man, dropped out on the fourth lap, as the handicap was too large for him to overcome.

High jump—Herbert, 4 feet 11 inches, first; Mercer, 4 feet 9 inches, second; Owen, third.

Putting the shot—H. Richards, first; G. C. Bauer, second; William Schepp, third. Distance, 25 feet 7 inches.

Two hundred and 40 yard foot race—Herbert Smith, first; Jerry Callahan, second; Samuel Owen, third. Time, 2:23. As this time was speedy the distance was remeasured and found to be 49 yards short.

The Turners' exhibition was unusually fine, and held the attention of the spectators for over 30 minutes.

Hazel Mercer was the lucky man to climb the greased pole, and secured the umbrella.

THE JURORS.

POTT'S WAS WILD.

Anarchistic Sentiments of the Democratic Leader.

W. S. Potts, the Lisbon editor who is bossing the Democratic politics of the county, made a speech at Rogers on Saturday night, and disgusted his audience by his anarchistic sentiments. Potts is quoted as saying the railroad men at Wellsville were being polled for the purpose of finding their political opinions, and all silver men were to be discharged. If this be true, he said, they should put dynamite under the rails, and blow the track and bridges high into the air. Many people were so incensed at this utterance that they left the hall. He further asserted that the present political battle is a combination of Prohibitionists, Populists and Democrats against the wealth of this country. He might have better said against the industries and prosperity of the nation.

WITHOUT A PASTOR.

And Scored McKinley, Gold Bugs and Congress—Dwelt on the Crime of '73. Convention Gets Down to Business and Selects Committees.

ALLIANCE, Sept. 8.—[Special.]—The biennial gathering of the Democrats of this Eighteenth congressional district never fails to prove an event of more than passing interest. They gather from the remotest corners of Columbiana, Stark and Mahoning counties, fight like the famed cats of Kilkenny, and then lie down to rest, the lion and the lamb, with the lamb usually inside the lion.

The convention this year is no exception. Alliance is filled with Democrats. Of course they have no hope of ever sending the nominee to congress, but they believe that nominees should be some one man representing some other men, and that is why they fight. Westfall, well known here, will preach at Turtle creek during the ensuing year. The pastorate of the local church was not filled, but some action will be taken to supply the vacancy later.

ALLIANCE, Sept. 8.—[Special.]—The convention met at 2 o'clock. Permanent organization, A. J. Wolf, Youngstown, chairman; D. E. Gilchrist, Liverpool, John O'Connor, Youngstown, J. S. Hudson, Canton, Secretaries. Wolf made a long speech, and it was decided to limit the nomination speeches to three minutes; the resolutions endorse the Chicago and state convention and national ticket. The Populists are also in session. They want to name the Democrat nominee for congress. They will name him, and vice versa. There are some contests in the Stark delegation. It is rumored that Walter Campbell, of Youngstown, flopped. He may be nominated.

4:15—The convention is now endeavoring to settle the contest in Stark county. Doctor McCormick, of Waynesburg, wants a seat in the convention, and the fight is hot. Each speaker is greeted by hisses and cheers. No nomination will be made until 6 o'clock.

DID NOT FIGHT.

A Pugilistic Contest to Take Place Here Fall Through.

A crowd of about 60 sports from Beaver valley arrived in the city last night on the midnight train. They came here for the purpose of pulling off a prize fight, but in this they were disappointed, as one of the contestants refused to fight, saying the purse was not large enough. The principals were Paddy Smith, the well known boxer, and Frank Taylor, a colored pugilist hailing from Canada. The latter is better known as Black Frank, and Smith is a brother of Denver Smith. They fought two rounds in Beaver Falls last night, but the police interfered. Upon arriving here Smith refused to renew the battle, though Chief Johnson was on hand to prevent it taking place. They returned home this morning.

A DEMONSTRATION

Will Be Held by Salem Republicans in October.

Salem Republicans now have a McKinley club of 1,012 members, together with a martial band of which they are justly proud.

A large Republican meeting will be held in that city in October at which it is intended to have the colored congressman Bruce make an address, together with a number of other prominent colored orators, and an effort will be made to make this the largest meeting of colored people to be held in the state during the campaign. An invitation has been extended the McKinley club of this city to be present.

HAPPY NEW YEAR.

The Jews Are All Greeting Each Other Today.

The celebration of the Jewish festival of Rosh Hashonah began at sunset last evening, and will be continued by the orthodox Jews until Wednesday evening, and by the reformed Jews until the sun goes down tonight. The coming year is numbered in the Jewish calendar as 5,657 and is computed from the creation of the world. The festival is celebrated on the first day of the month Tishri, and is the most generally observed of Hebrew holiday. Your Kippur, the other great feast, will be celebrated Sept. 17.

CLAIMS COMMITTEE.

Claims committee met last night and ordered a large number of bills placed on the pay roll.

A letter was read from the Pennsylvania Railroad company, in which they refused to pay for improving the sewers on Walnut street, and after discussing several other matters the committee adjourned.

AT PRESBYTERY

East Liverpool Will Play a Prominent Part.

Doctor Lee, E. D. Moore and W. A. Hill left the city yesterday morning for Carrollton, where they will attend presbytery as representatives of the First church of this city. Great preparations have been made to receive the ministers, and they will be well entertained.

Doctor Lee will deliver an address at the meeting this

At the Alliance Congressional Convention.

DOCTOR LEWIS MADE A SPEECH

And Scored McKinley, Gold Bugs and Congress—Dwelt on the Crime of '73. Convention Gets Down to Business and Selects Committees.

ALLIANCE, Sept. 8.—[Special.]—The biennial gathering of the Democrats of this Eighteenth congressional district never fails to prove an event of more than passing interest. They gather from the remotest corners of Columbiana, Stark and Mahoning counties, fight like the famed cats of Kilkenney, and then lie down to rest, the lion and the lamb, with the lamb usually inside the lion.

The convention this year is no exception. Alliance is filled with Democrats. Of course they have no hope of ever sending the nominee to congress, but they believe that nominee should be some one man representing some other men, and that is why they fight. This year there are the Populists to complicate matters. They are a jovial set with their long whiskers and broad brimmed hats, but they seem to know a thing or two of political conventions. General Coxey with all his nonsense has been on the ground since early morn, elbowing this way and that, and never failing to put in a good word for General Coxey. Allen Cook, the Canton attorney who ruined his prospects in life by espousing the cause of Coxey, is also here in force.

They are working some scheme for fusion whereby the Democrats will get only the core of the apple, and a mighty seedy core it is to be if they succeed. But there are others. John H. Clark, the silver-haired statesman of Mahoning, has a long, bony finger in the pie. He has his own ideas of how the convention should be run, and he proposes to have them enforced. He was somewhat surprised when he learned yesterday that the Populists would not meet on Monday, but their convention would be held today. He took the alarm at once, and has since been endeavoring to find what bearing it has on the chances of John C. Welty, the Canton man whose relatives are interested in a silver man and want to see him in congress. Jim Rice, of Canton, is also a candidate, but he is not now expected to make much showing. Doc Lewis, of Alliance, is another figure in the contest, but he is smiled upon with almost the same glee as that which greets the name of Potts, of Lisbon, and when they say John H. Clark wants the job, everybody laughs.

The convention was late in coming to order for some reason not made known. The congressional committee did not complete its work until almost 11 o'clock this morning. The hall was not crowded; in fact it was not more than half full, and everyone seemed at a loss to know what to do. There was very little enthusiasm, a marked difference from the gathering four years ago. W. J. Piero, of Canton, rapped for order and announced Dr. J. V. Lewis as temporary chairman, and George S. Walton, of Salem, as secretary. There was some confusion in getting delegates in order, and then Doctor Lewis made his speech of greeting. Of course he was glad to be present, and it pleased him to see such a large and intelligent body of men at the convention. He thought the eyes of the country were upon this old McKinley district, and he wanted the delegates to do that which would awake the country through the force of their influence. Gold, he declared, was more powerful than the sword, and the gold power was a serpent winding its coils about the American people. Slavery of Ante Bellum days was nothing as compared with the shackles which the golden disciples were endeavoring to fasten on the limbs of the people. Then he talked about the crime of '73, and it took him almost half an hour to tell the story, during which he was repeatedly interrupted by applause. He struck out at John Sherman and said a few uncomplimentary things about congress. He believed the money value of silver had been destroyed, and scored numerous actions of the awful gold bugs. McKinley came in for a share of condemnation, and the doctor said if the price of copper could be raised by protection, the price of silver could be raised by free coinage. Sixteen to one has been the ratio since the country had its beginning and McKinley was afraid, in the face of an emergency, to stand by his principles. He had voted for 16 to 1 dollars when in congress. The doctor raked up the Stanley Mathews resolution, and said that Mark Hanna had put a plaster of paris cast on McKinley's body. The doctor apologized for speaking thus of McKinley, but said the facts must be met. What he styled a European system of money and the American system of tariff came in for its share of condemnation, and then he impressed upon the convention its own responsibility.

When the doctor finished his talk there was a faint cheer, and the convention got down to business. C. H. Wayne, Mahoning; Howells, Stark, and Cook, of Columbiana, were the committee on permanent organization. Resolutions, George P. Ikirt, A. J. Wolf and R. G. Williams. Credentials, G. H. Kirby, A. J. Packer and John M. Meyers. Conference, H. B. Shields, A. O. Slenz and B. Rinkenberger. Congressional, W. H. Spence, George S. Walton, Columbiana county; William Radcliffe, Hugh F. Kistler, Mahoning; O. E. Slenz, H. B. Sibley, Stark; sergeant-at-arms, Ed. Speidel, C. P. Maurer and H. Baumhamer.

When the work of the preliminary organization was completed, some one wondered when the judicial convention would be held. Various opinions were expressed and it was finally decided to adjourn the congressional convention for an hour, and allow the judicial convention to do its work.

AFTERNOON SESSION.

The Lamb Has Not Yet Been Chosen for the Slaughter.

ALLIANCE, Sept. 8.—4 p.m.—The convention met at 2 o'clock. Permanent organization, A. J. Wolf, Youngstown, chairman; D. E. Gilchrist, Liverpool, John O'Connor, Youngstown, J. S. Hudson, Canton, Secretaries. Wolf made a long speech, and it was decided to limit the nomination speeches to three minutes; the resolutions endorse the Chicago and state convention and national ticket. The Populists are also in session. They want to name the Democrat nominee for congress. They will name him, and vice versa. There are some contests in the Stark delegation. It is rumored that Walter Campbell, of Youngstown, followed. He may be nominated.

4:15—The convention is now endeavoring to settle the contest in Stark county. Doctor McCormick, of Waynesburg, wants a seat in the convention, and the fight is hot. Each speaker is greeted by hisses and cheers. No nomination will be made until 6 o'clock.

DID NOT FIGHT.

A Pugilistic Contest to Take Place Here Fell Through.

A crowd of about 60 sports from Beaver valley arrived in the city last night on the midnight train. They came here for the purpose of pulling off a prize fight, but in this they were disappointed, as one of the contestants refused to fight, saying the purse was not large enough. The principals were Paddy Smith, the well known boxer, and Frank Taylor, a colored pugilist hailing from Canada. The latter is better known as Black Frank, and Smith is a brother of Denver Smith. They fought two rounds in Beaver Falls last night, but the police interfered. Upon arriving here Smith refused to renew the battle, though Chief Johnson was on hand to prevent it taking place. They returned home this morning.

A DEMONSTRATION.

Will Be Held by Salem Republicans in October.

Salem Republicans now have a McKinley club of 1,012 members, together with a martial band of which they are justly proud. A large Republican meeting will be held in that city in October at which it is intended to have the colored congressman Bruce make an address, together with a number of other prominent colored orators, and an effort will be made to make this the largest meeting of colored people to be held in the state during the campaign. An invitation has been extended the McKinley club of this city to be present.

HAPPY NEW YEAR.

The Jews Are All Greeting Each Other Today.

The celebration of the Jewish festival of Rosh Hashonah began at sunset last evening, and will be continued by the orthodox Jews until Wednesday evening, and by the reformed Jews until the sun goes down tonight. The coming year is numbered in the Jewish calendar as 5,657 and is computed from the creation of the world. The festival is celebrated on the first day of the month Tishri, and is the most generally observed of Hebrew holidays. Your Kippur, the other great feast, will be celebrated Sept. 17.

CLAIMS COMMITTEE.

Claims committee met last night and ordered a large number of bills placed on the pay roll. A letter was read from the Pennsylvania Railroad company, in which they refused to pay for improving the sewers on Walnut street, and after discussing several other matters the committee adjourned.

HANGING IN A CLOSET

With a Sheet Knotted About Her Neck

MRS. THOMPSON TRYING TO DIE

Her Daughter Found Her in the Dead Hour of Night, and Saved Her Life After a Fierce Struggle—Then She Got a Knife and Tried That Route.

Mrs. Kiz Thompson, residing just over the hill from Avondale street, made several attempts to end her life, and was only prevented from dropping into the great beyond by her daughter.

The woman is well known because of her habits, and went home drunk. She was physically in poor condition, and threatened to end her life. Her three children had heard her give utterance to similar words on other occasions, and thought nothing of the threats until after midnight, when they were awakened by groans. Looking toward the clothes press, Belle, the oldest daughter, saw her mother hanging by a sheet to a peg. The woman was being slowly strangled, and would have been dead in a short time if Belle had not hastened to save her. But Mrs. Thompson did not want to be saved. She had determined to die, and when the girl attempted to remove the sheet she struggled fiercely. At length the knot was untied, but Mrs. Thompson fought like some maddened creature. She secured a knife, and was trying to cut her throat when the girl again saved her. At this point neighbors entered the house, and succeeded in restoring quiet. Mrs. Thompson went to bed, but as soon as the neighbors had gone she arose, tied the sheet about her neck, and ran out of the house. She was found lying in the road by two young men, and when asked why she did not return home, fled into the weeds. They followed, and after much persuasion induced her to return home, but she declared she would kill herself later.

It would be interesting to know who paid for the plant of the new silver paper.

WHEN Mr. Bryan's editor friends are short of argument, they write a few columns on the awful crime of being rich.

AND still they call on McKinley. How much better to have the people come to you instead of you going to the people.

HERE'S hoping the workmen of East Liverpool will never know a more troublesome time than they experienced yesterday.

THE Democrats are wasting time and money in nominating a congressional candidate today. The Hon. R. W. Tayler will occupy the chair set apart for the Eighteenth during the life of the next congress.

PRESIDENT CLEVELAND does not allow his office holders to support and fight for Bryan. Perhaps that is why some of Columbiania's county postmasters have suddenly decided they have nothing to say.

THE proprietors and backers of the silver weekly, to be published and issued in East Liverpool, will be known in the hereafter as the enemies of East Liverpool and her industries. Mark this prophecy down in your mind and memory.

ONLY a few more weeks until the country will start its steady march toward prosperity. McKinley will be elected, and confidence will return like a whirlwind, while Mr. Bryan and his minor friends will marvel at the good sense of the great American people.

ALL RIGHT IN COLUMBIANA.

Columbiania county will honor its old time custom, and cast its ballot for McKinley and prosperity. At present every indication points to a Republican victory, splendid in its proportions. Wherever McKinley clubs have been organized, enthusiastic hundreds have cheered the name of the great protectionist and the principles for which he stands. The railroad men of Wellsville have entered the movement with an honesty of purpose which will show well on the tally sheets when the votes are counted next November. Out in Hanover the farmers organized a club which includes the great majority of voters in that section, and every speaker sent there has been received with spirit. In Salem and Lisbon the Republican sentiment is strong, and every man who wants information about East Liverpool can easily learn how well the McKinley men are making progress. Reliable parties of St. Clair say there are no silver converts among them, while in the extreme western portion they are almost all for honest money. There are not so many silver advocates in Middleton and Fairfield townships as there were a few months ago. The people are awakening to the necessity of sustaining the honor of the government, and Columbiania will do its duty.

SILVER AND WHEAT.
How They Have Traveled Together
In Value.

The claim is made by the free silverites that wheat and silver have traveled together in price or value.

But the statistics show that there is no such intimate relationship between wheat and silver. They show that with the single exception of the last three years the value of wheat has averaged higher since 1873 than it did in the five years preceding that date. The highest price attained was in 1880, 7 years after the "crime."

In the following table the value of a ounce of silver and a bushel of wheat in the period 1868-1872 is taken as 100, with the average value for each of the following periods expressed in percentage on that basis:

Years	Average Gold value price of wheat per bushel of silver per oz.	Silver Wheat
1868-72	$1.325	100
1873-77	1.236	95
1878-82	1.159	86
1883-87	1.053	79
1888-92	.956	72
1892-95	.909	52

So it appears that silver and wheat have not kept company. One has been falling continually, while the other has been rising and falling.

The farmer did not get less for his wheat during 1888-92 because of the "crime of 1873," but because of the increased production; but he got more for his other crops, and at the same time was paying less for the goods he bought.

He paid in 1890 $150 for the self-blinders which in 1880 cost $300, and $55 for the mowing machine which in 1880 had cost $90, and $18 for the steel plow which in 1880 had cost $28; and so on through the list of clothing and of nearly everything which the farmer had to buy. In nearly all of those things prices had been greatly reduced by new inventions and cheaper processes of manufacture.

The price of farm products in 1890 are lower than those of 1892, but that is due to a panic which has demoralized industry—a panic which was largely due to the fear of a drop to the silver standard and which the adoption of that standard would not allay, but intensify.—Chicago Tribune.

SOUND SENSE.

A Few Extracts From One of Major McKinley's Recent Speeches.

His Speech to the Workingmen in Chicago Labor Day.

CHICAGO, Sept. 8.—The crowd gathered at Sharpshooter's park, the spot selected for the labor picnic, very slowly. At 2:30 o'clock a mighty shout went up from the outskirts of the crowd and there was a great rush for the carriage occupied by Mr. Bryan, which had just then arrived within the enclosure of the park. Hundreds of people pressed forward seeking to shake Mr. Bryan by the hand, and the passage of the carriage through the crowd was somewhat slow in consequence. He finally reached the speaker's stand, where he was received with prolonged applause. On the stand were seated Judge McConnell, Judge Prentiss and a large number of representatives of the trades unions of Chicago. At 2:30 Mr. Bryan began his speech, being introduced by Edward Carroll, president of the Building Trades council, in a brief and appropriate address. Mr. Bryan said:

I desire to thank the Building and Trades council for this opportunity which they have extended to me to speak before the assembled on Labor day. Labor day has become a fixed thing among our institutions, and it is well that it has, because on this day all over this nation those who are engaged in the production of wealth meet in order that they may communicate with each other, discuss those questions in which they are especially interested and equal in purchasing power, whether they be paper dollars or gold dollars or silver dollars or treasury notes; each convertible into the other and each exchangeable for the other, because each is based upon equal value and has behind it equal security; good, not by the fiat of law alone, but good because the whole commercial world recognizes their inherent and inextinguishable value.

"Businessmen, workingmen and the people generally are coming to realize that business and politics are closely related; and that bad politics means bad business, and that politics cannot be neglected without endangering our occupations, our earnings and our labor."

"We have had some distressing experience in this direction, which has taught us that if we do not keep our business our business will not keep us [great cheering] and that if somebody else does our work we will have no work to do at home. [Applause]."

"We are learning another thing, my fellow-citizens; indeed, we know it already—that no matter what kind of money we have we can not get it unless we have work. [Cries of "You are right, major!"] Whether it is poor money, or whether it is good money, whether it is gold or whether it is silver, we can not get one dollar of it unless we have employment for our hands and heads. [Enthusiastic cheering and waving of hats.]

"And we know another thing—that when we have work we want honest dollars with the most purchasing power—dollars which will not depreciate in our hands over night, but which will be good every day and every year and everywhere. [Renewed cheering and cries of "Hurrah for McKinley!"]

"We can not help labor by reducing the value of the money in which labor is paid. The way to help labor is to provide it with steady work and good wages, and then have those good wages always paid in good money, money as sound as the government and as unusual as this flag." [Pointing to the American flag.] [Tremendous cheering and applause.]

Daniel Webster's Utterance.

The great "Defender of the Constitution," Daniel Webster, was not in sympathy with any plan for cheapening the currency or the debasement of the money standard. Hear what he said over 50 years ago on the subject:

"The very man, of all others, who has the deepest interest in a sound currency, and who suffers most by mischievous legislation in money matters, is the man who eats his daily bread by his daily toil. * * * His property is in his hands. His reliance, his fund, his productive freehold, his all, is his labor. Whether he work on his own small capital or another's, his living is still earned by his industry; and when the money of the country becomes depreciated and debased, whether it be adulterated coin or paper without credit, that industry is robbed of its reward. He then labors for a country whose laws cheat him out of his bread. I would say to every owner of every quarter section of land in the west, I would say to every man in the east who follows his own plow, and to every mechanic, artisan and laborer of every city in the country—I would say to every man, everywhere, who wishes by honest means to gain an honest living. Beware of wolves in sheep's clothing! Whoever attempts, under whatever popular cry, to shake the stability of the public currency * * * stabs your interest and your happiness to the heart."—Toledo Blade.

CROWDS KEPT BACK BY TROOPS.

The German Ruler Toasts the Fifth Army Corps—Czar and Emperor Greet Each Other Warmly, as Do the Czars and Empress.

GORLITZ, Sept. 8.—Upon the arrival here from Breslau of their majesties, the emperor and empress of Russia and the emperor and empress of Germany, to-day, they were received in state by the provincial, municipal and military authorities. The burgomaster delivered an address of welcome.

The czar wore the uniform of the Emperor Nicholas hussars, and Emperor William was dressed in the uniform of the Cuirassiers. Their majesties drove together to the reviewing ground, followed by the empresses in a second carriage. The streets were profusely decorated with Russian and German flags, etc., and packed with crowds of people.

The czar and empress started for Kiel at 6 o'clock this evening.

The departure of the czar and empress was marked by an enthusiastic popular ovation. All of the German princes and the court officials awaited their majesties at the station.

The route of the march was lined with masses of troops, and behind the troops stood the dense masses of the people. On the platform at the station the czar and empress bade adieu to the German princes and to the other distinguished persons gathered there, and then in the most cordial manner they made their farewells to the emperor and empress of Germany. The two empresses embraced warmly, both being visibly moved, as were also the two emperors.

A military banquet was given, at which the Empress Augusta was present. Emperor William in proposing the toast to the Fifth army corps dilated upon the pleasure which the czar's visit had afforded him.

IN EXTRA SESSION.

Tennessee Legislature May Increase Tax Rates—A Probable Deficit.

NASHVILLE, Sept. 8.—Both houses of the legislature have met in extra session.

The message of Governor Turney sets out at length the financial condition of the state, says there are reasons to believe there will be a large deficit Jan. 1, 1897, and recommends the restoration of tax rates of the act of 1893, which were reduced 33 per cent. in 1895.

The legislature in 1895 lowered the tax rates, but assessments so decreased this year that the revenues have alarmingly decreased. A legislative committee will be appointed to examine the estimates furnished by Governor Turney and report for the action of the legislature.

Teller Makes Address at His Old Home.

MORRISON, Ill., Sept. 8.—Senator Henry M. Teller delivered his first speech in this place. The crowd that assembled was variously estimated at from 2,000 to 3,000 people. This is the home of Senator Teller. His mother lives here, with four sisters and a brother. This is the reason why the senator selected his old home as the place for making his first speech of the campaign. He left here today for Chicago, where he spent the day with the executive committee of the Democratic party.

Labor Day Parade in Cleveland.

CLEVELAND, Sept. 8.—Labor day in this city was celebrated by a monster parade of workingmen, in which it was estimated from 10,000 to 15,000 persons took part. A feature of the demonstration was a number of marchers representing colored slaves and tramps, illustrating their views of the present condition of the workingman.

In Honor of Labor Day.

CANTON, O., Sept. 8.—There were no formal Labor day demonstration in Canton, although there was a general cessation of work. About the first and most notable decoration in honor of the day was made at the McKinley home. It was a magnificent American flag, set flying to the breeze with the earliest morning sunbeams.

Spain Purchasing Warships.

MADRID, Sept. 8.—Admiral Beranger, the minister of marine, has decided to purchase in Scotland an ironclad of 10,500 tons and a cruiser of 6,500 tons, costing respectively £750,000 and £315,000, and two torpedo catchers. He has also decided to place an order in England for a cruiser of 1,500 tons.

Action Against Political Designs.

ST. PETERSBURG, Sept. 8.—The Novo Vremya makes the important statement that the czar's tour shows that Berlin and Vienna, as well as Paris and St. Petersburg, are conscious of the necessity of common action by the powers to defeat the political designs of Great Britain, which, it adds, are clearly displayed in recent events in Turkey.

Wreath on Washington's Grave.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 8.—Mr. Yang Yu, the Chinese minister, with several members of the Chinese legation, went to Mount Vernon and placed upon the tomb of Washington the magnificent wreath of camellia leaves and orchids that a general argument should be made in favor of public institutions; but there is one point with its point no so hackneyed as most others, to which I ask brief attention. It is the effort to place capital on an equal footing with, if not above, the structure of government. It is assumed that labor is available only in connection with capital; that nobody labors unless somebody else commands capital or unless he by his industry. He does not praise them too highly. The struggle to produce capital in the country in time of peace, but the struggling masses have ever been and must ever be the nation's surest protection in time of peril. [Applause and a voice: "Good boy, Willie."]

Let me quote you what Mr. Carlisle said of these people in 1878. He described them as the struggling masses who produce the wealth and pay the taxes of the country. He did not praise them too highly. The struggle to produce capital in the country in time of peace, but the struggling masses have ever been and must ever be the nation's surest protection in time of peril.

To Take John Hays Hammond's Place.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 8.—Harry H. Webb, a son of C. C. Webb, who owns a large part of the Shasta valley in Siskiyou county, has been engaged by the chartered company of South Africa to take charge of the Consolidated Gold Fields company's interest at Johannesburg as consulting engineer, the position until recently filled by John Hays Hammond.

Ex-Senator Payne III.

CLEVELAND, Sept. 8.—Ex-Senator Henry B. Payne suffered a stroke of paralysis. Little hope is entertained for his recovery. He is 70 years old and one of the wealthiest men in Ohio.

Dr. Gallagher Violently Insane.

NEW YORK, Sept. 8.—Dr. Gallagher, the released Irish prisoner, became violent this afternoon and was taken to a private sanitarium in Amityville, L. I.

SEVEN SATISFIED PRISONERS.

During Jail Delivery, But Only Six Went Out of Thirteen.

HUNTINGTON, W. Va., Sept. 8.—A jail breaking on a grand scale took place at the Cabell county jail, in this city, and six prisoners are now at large. The work was done by cutting through a stone ceiling by means of chisels which some of the prisoners had secured. They slid down into the basement through a fine, and then their escape was easy. Parties of officers have been out in all parts of the country, but no crew has been found, and the search will be continued with bloodhounds.

There were 13 confined in the jail, but only six cared to go. Among those who refused to go was Etta Robbins, who killed the McCall family a few days ago at this place. Those who escaped are John Lowe, charged with murder, and Joe Taylor, a notorious moonshiner; John Rowe and John Morrow, indicted for grand larceny

The czar and czarina started for Kiel at 6 o'clock this evening.

The departure of the czar and czarina was marked by an enthusiastic popular ovation. All of the German princes and the court officials awaited their majesties at the station.

The route of the march was lined with masses of troops, and behind the troops stood the dense masses of the people. On the platform at the station the czar and czarina added to the German princes and to the other distinguished persons gathered there, and then in the most cordial manner they made their farewells to the emperor and empress of Germany. The two empresses embraced warmly, both being visibly moved, as were also the two emperors.

A military banquet was given, at which the Empress Augusta was present. Emperor William in proposing the toast to the Fifth army corps dilated upon the pleasure which the czar's visit had afforded him.

IN EXTRA SESSION.

Tennessee Legislature May Increase Tax Rates—A Probable Deficit.

NASHVILLE, Sept. 8.—Both houses of the legislature have met in extra session. The message of Governor Turney sets out at length the financial condition of the state, says there are reasons to believe there will be a large deficit Jan. 1, 1897, and recommends the restoration of tax rates of the act of 1893, which were reduced 33 per cent. in 1895.

The legislature in 1895 lowered the tax rates, but assessments so decreased this year that the revenues have alarmingly decreased. A legislative committee will be appointed to examine the estimates furnished by Governor Turney and report for the action of the legislature.

Teller Makes Address at His Old Home.

MORRISON, Ill., Sept. 8.—Senator Henry M. Teller delivered his first speech in this place. The crowd that assembled was variously estimated at from 2,000 to 3,000 people. This is the home of Senator Teller. His mother lives here, with four sisters and a brother. This is the reason why the senator selected his old home as the place for making his first speech of the campaign. He left here today for Chicago, where he spent the day with the executive committee of the Democratic party.

Labor Day Parade in Cleveland.

CLEVELAND, Sept. 8.—The crowd gathered at Sharpshooter's park, the spot selected for the labor picnic, very slowly. At 2:30 o'clock mighty shout went up from the outskirts of the crowd and there was a great rush for the carriage occupied by Mr. Bryan, which had just then arrived within the enclosure of the park. Hundreds of people pressed forward seeking to shake Mr. Bryan by the hand, and the passage of the carriage through the crowd was somewhat slow in consequence. He finally reached the speaker's stand, where he was received with prolonged applause. On the stand were seated Judge McConnell, Judge Prentiss and a large number of representatives of the trades unions of Chicago.

BRYAN'S LABOR SPEECH.

His Speech to the Workingmen in Chicago Labor Day.

CHICAGO, Sept. 8.—The crowd gathered at Sharpshooter's park, the spot selected for the labor picnic, very slowly. At 2:30 o'clock mighty shout went up from the outskirts of the crowd and there was a great rush for the carriage occupied by Mr. Bryan, which had just then arrived within the enclosure of the park. Hundreds of people pressed forward seeking to shake Mr. Bryan by the hand, and the passage of the carriage through the crowd was somewhat slow in consequence. He finally reached the speaker's stand, where he was received with prolonged applause. On the stand were seated Judge McConnell, Judge Prentiss and a large number of representatives of the trades unions of Chicago.

I desire to thank the Building and Trades council for this opportunity which they have extended to me to speak before the assembled on Labor day. Labor day has become a fixed thing among our institutions, and it is well that it has, because on this day all over this nation those who are engaged in the production of wealth meet in order that they may communicate with each other, discuss those questions in which they are especially interested and emphasize before the world that there is nothing dishonorable in the fact that one earns his bread in the sweat of his face. I am not afraid to think this in the presence of those to whom this question is largely indebted for all that it has had, for all that it has now and for all that it can hope to have.

I am not indulging in idle flattery when I say to you that no part of the people of the world are so important to the welfare of mankind as those whose labor and brain convert natural resources into material wealth. [Applause.]

And we know another thing—that when we have work we want honest dollars with the most purchasing power—dollars which will not depreciate in our hands over night, but which will be good every day and every year and everywhere. [Renewed cheering and cries of "Hurrah for McKinley"]

"We can not help labor by reducing the value of the money in which labor is paid. The way to help labor is to provide it with steady work and good wages, and then have those good wages always paid in good money, money as sound as the government and as unyielded as this flag" [pointing to the American flag]. [Tremendous cheering and applause.]

Daniel Webster's Utterance.

St. PETERSBURG, Sept. 8.—The Novo Vremya makes the important statement that the czar's tour shows that Berlin and Vienna, as well as Paris and St. Petersburg, are conscious of the necessity of common action by the powers to defeat the political designs of Great Britain, which, it adds, are clearly displayed in recent events in Turkey.

Wreath on Washington's Grave.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 8.—Mr. Yang Yu, the Chinese minister, with several members of the Chinese legation, went to Mount Vernon and placed upon the tomb of Washington the magnificent wreath of camellia leaves and orchids which Li Hung Chang intended taking there in person last Saturday when prevented by the rain.

To Take John Hays Hammond's Place.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 8.—Harry H. Webb, a son of C. C. Webb, who owns a large part of the Shasta valley in Siskyou county, has been engaged by the chartered company of South Africa to take charge of the Consolidated Gold Fields company's interest at Johannesburg as consulting engineer, the position until recently filled by John Hays Hammond.

Ex-Senator Payne III.

CLEVELAND, Sept. 8.—Ex-United States Senator Henry B. Payne suffered a stroke of paralysis. Little hope is entertained for his recovery. He is nearly 90 years old and one of the wealthiest men in Ohio.

Dr. Gallagher Violently Insane.

NEW YORK, Sept. 8.—Dr. Gallagher, the released Irish prisoner, became violent this afternoon and was taken to a private sanitarium in Amityville, L. I.

ARKANSAS ELECTION.

Daniel W. Jones, Democrat, Elected Governor.

A VERY LARGE VOTE POLLED.

Interest Centered on the Liquor Question in Little Rock—A Strong Effort Made to Defeat License—The Liquor Men Win By a Small Majority.

LITTLE ROCK, Sept. 8.—General Daniel W. Jones of Little Rock has been elected governor of Arkansas, and the entire Democratic state ticket has been successful at the polls. There were but two full tickets in the field, the Democratic and the Republican, the Populists contesting themselves with a candidate for governor. General Jones

NATIONAL ENCAMPMENT.

The G. A. R. Boys Had a Royally Good Time at St. Paul.

W. T. McCain returned home from the national encampment at St. Paul, Minn., on Saturday night last, and reports an exceedingly pleasant time. He asserts that the grand parade was a magnificent one, from 30,000 to 40,000 veterans being in line, while the decorations were simply superb, exceeding anything of the kind he had ever witnessed. Electricity was called into play at night, and the display was beautiful beyond description, neither time nor expense being spared by the citizens and business men in demonstrating the fact that the old comrades have a very warm place in the hearts of the people.

Comrade McCain and George Adam were on a street car, going to the Minnesota fair grounds, four miles distant from St. Paul, when the car was run into by a freight train, the engine of which struck the street car on the front steps, whirling the car around and tearing the entire side out, mortally wounding three of the passengers and injuring a number of others. Mr. Adam received a slight cut on the nose from broken glass, Comrade McCain fortunately escaping uninjured. The street car was thrown across the opposite track, on which a passenger train was approaching under full speed, and it required all the power of the brakes to avoid a second disaster, the engine stopping within a few feet of the car, which was still packed with passengers, who were so hedged in that they could not escape.

George Adam, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Arbuckle, Noah Frederick and wife and Harlan Stewart, who went to St. Paul with Mr. McCain, are still at that point, taking in the sights.

Mr. McCain took in the city of Minneapolis during his visit, and speaks in warm terms of praise of the splendid streets and magnificent buildings. Under the escort of Comrade West Pettitt, a resident of Minneapolis, formerly residing in Wellsville, and well known in this section, Mr. McCain and Adam were shown all the sights worth seeing in the beautiful city.

Entertained Friends.

Miss Josephine Hall pleasantly entertained a party of friends at her home on May street last evening. Games and music helped to pass the time until a late hour, when the guests departed, all having enjoyed the evening as one of rare pleasure.

Men are often wiser than they act. They know how to be happy, but sometimes they are miserable. They know there is no happiness worth the name without health; yet they neglect health. They allow dyspepsia and biliousness and constipation to get a hold on them and make life wretched. Those three complaints usually come together. Constipation affects the stomach and liver. That brings on bilious attacks and indigestion, headaches, nausea, dizziness, queer sensations of weakness and palpitation. Your nerves are unstrung, your system is sluggish. You lose ambition. The fact is your whole constitution is being slowly undermined. What you need is Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets.

They cure constipation, dyspepsia and biliousness in the only sure, permanent way.

There is nothing violent or irritating about them, they work mildly though quickly.

They tone and strengthen the bowels, carry on their functions naturally. They gently stimulate the flow of bile from the liver and the digestive juices of the stomach. You don't become a slave to their use with such small doses. They make you regular and then you can leave them. That is the difference between Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets and the something "just as good," which a sharp druggist tries to substitute. Don't let him do so with you.

If you want to keep your health and strength without consulting the doctor so often, the best thing you can do is to write to the World's Dispensary.

Address: 100 Broadway, New York.

But also, N. Y. for a copy of Dr. Pierce's great book, the "People's Common Sense Medical Advice." Send a stamp to cover the cost of mailing only. It is a large book of 308 pages, with over 300 illustrations.
